MCW Group : Microsoft's Number ONE partner in Wales!

In the business world, there cannot be many days in which we do not find ourselves using some form of Microsoft software. Equally, it is fair to say that Microsoft technologies have changed the way we all work and expect to send and receive information.

MCW Group Ltd, the North Wales based IT and Communications business, which has been providing computer solutions to the regions business and public sector organisations for 24years, has recently received some excellent news.

Richard Morris, Managing Director of MCW ,is delighted to report “whilst we are already one of the elite 180 Microsoft Gold Partners in the UK, and also a Microsoft Small Business Specialist, we have recently been informed that MCW is the NUMBER ONE Microsoft partner in Wales!.” Morris goes on to say “Microsoft is an important partner for MCW and our aim for our customers is to maximise the benefits of the new technologies in which the Microsoft solutions are able to offer.”

Becoming the Number one Microsoft partner in Wales is not an easy task. Kevin Williams, Director of Technical Services for MCW says “Each year we have to re apply to regain our status which involves asking our customers to report on the quality of the services we have delivered. In addition, we are also required to prove we are ‘competent’ in various solutions, which includes, Advanced Networking, IT Security and Information Working, to name only three.” Williams also says “MCW is perhaps one of a unique brand of companies which is able to provide a complete IT and Communications service, which includes not only the Server Based Computing, but also Training, Maintenance, Support and extensive Communications Solutions.”
